

The physiological importance of nitric oxide was established by Nobel-prize winning research.

The physiological importance of nitric oxide has been confirmed by scientific studies and clinical experience.

Optimal nitric oxide levels have been shown to:

- Support a healthy cardiovascular system*
- Support and maintain blood pressure in the normal range*
- Support healthy circulation*

Calroy's proprietary, patent-pending formula, Vascanox HP®, targets nitric oxide metabolism, using multiple pathways.

In an open label published study, a single dose of Vascanox HP increased salivary nitric oxide levels for up to 24 hours.*†

CALROY

Next-Generation Nitric Oxide Support*

Vascanox HP® is a next-generation product providing nitric oxide support for up to 24 hours with a single dose.† Vascanox HP supports the natural production, storage, and release of nitric oxide.

Vascanox HP contains a carefully curated selection of synergistic compounds derived from fruits and vegetables. In addition to potassium nitrate, a precursor for nitric oxide, a blend of polyphenols with antioxidant activity supports the entire biotransformation process for nitric oxide.
